

WILD: FROM LOST TO FOUND ON THE PACIFIC CREST TRAIL

A powerful, blazingly honest memoir: the story of an eleven-hundred-mile solo hike that broke down a young woman reeling from catastrophe--and built her back up again. At twenty-two, Cheryl Strayed thought she had lost everything. In the wake of her mother's death, her family scattered and her own marriage was soon destroyed. Four years later, with nothing more to lose, she made the most impulsive decision of her life: to hike the Pacific Crest Trail from the Mojave Desert...

Reader's Opinions

Despite this book's stellar reviews and much hype it did not seem like one I'd enjoy. A memoir written by a woman who loses her mother and then promptly takes up heroin and cheating on her sweet husband (who she loves very much). She then decides to hike the Pacific Crest Trail despite zero hiking/wilderness experience. I figured nothing...

Cheryl is the man! I could only imagine going on a journey as magnificent as hers. I felt like I was with her every step of the way as she recounted her trip in this novel. What an experience! I am excited to see the movie now and how Reece brings Cheryl to life. Such a great...
