

THE UNTHINKABLE THOUGHTS OF JACOB GREEN

It's 1977. Jacob Green, a Jewish kid from suburban New Jersey, sits on the stairs during his family's housewarming party, waiting for his father, Abram--charming host, everyone's best friend, and amateur emcee--to introduce him to the crowd. Housewarming parties, Annie Hall parties, and bar mitzvah parties punctuate Jacob's childhood and require command performances by all the Green family members. But when the confetti settles and the drapes are drawn, the affable Abram Green becomes an egotistical tyrant whose emotional rages rupture the lives of his family. Jacob doesn't mean...

Peek Inside the Book

One's 'thing'--(1) A point of personal interest; a hobby, sport, or avocation that succinctly defines a person. (2) A brief coupling of words used to evoke someone's personality in a small-talk setting: Billy's thing used to be soccer; now it's masturbation. (3) A laconic summation of one's character and interests used for the purpose of categorization and judgement. See also 'What do you do?' Joshua Braff, The Unthinkable Thoughts...

Reader's Opinions

It seems like the subject matter is mild-mannered, but in fact, it's awfully intense. To the point where I wanted to reach through the book and strangle some characters. It takes place in the 70's-80's, following a young Jewish boy, the middle child in a very Jewish family, growing from kid to adult. His father is some
