

GREEN LANTERN, VOLUME 5: TEST OF WILLS

Hal Jordan, the greatest Green Lantern in the history of the Corps, has lost everything. Friends have died, Oa has been destroyed, and now he must say goodbye to Earth! As war threatens to dismantle the Green Lantern Corps, Hal does the unthinkable: He asks for help. Can he and a team of handpicked Lanterns remove a deadly weapon from the enemy's arsenal, or will they be dealt their first defeat? Collecting: Green Lantern 27-34 & Green Lantern Corps 31-33

Reader's Opinions

*Warning: I am personally attached to certain characters so this review, while brief, is still ridiculously sentimental. *I didn't care much for the PRIXIAM and DURLAN drama. However, Saint Walker's loss of hope is devastating, as he and his former corps were my very favorite. But when Mogo was destroyed, there was hope amidst my grief...

Man was I surprised by this. I'm not sure if it's just because of how bad some of the Green Lantern books have been lately or what, but this story was a home run for me. The whole source wall and emotional reservoir thing seemed stupid to me. I don't get the idea that...
